OVER THERE.

There is a beautiful land,
Over There;
And a beautiful band,
Over There;
Near the crystaline shore
Of the vast evermore,
Near the beautiful, echoing strand,
Over There.

There are beautiful homes,
Over There;
Crowned with sunlit domes,
Over There;
And the shimmering streams,
Bright with love's golden beams,
Girt the paths where our loved ones roam,
Over There.

There are labors true,
Over There;
Which our hands renew.
Over There;
Thoughts woven to blend,
Where soft shadows lend
Shapes to works we ne'er rue,
Over There.

There are beautiful flowers,
Over There,
Entwining Heaven's bowers,
Over There;
In the Eden of love,
In that bright home above,
Which beguile e'en the sunniest hours,
Over There.

There are beautiful souls,
Over There;
Named on beautiful scrolls,
Over There;
And music we love,
Floods the ether above,
In that beautiful land of souls,
Over There.

A WOMAN'S VENGANCE.

There was a small party gathered at Frederick Gernette's house. Everything within and without was bright, pretty, tasty, even to the trim little hostess She flittered hither and thither, chattering first with one and then with another, making all feel equally at home and under no restraint.

Presently her quick ear caught the sound of her husband's footsteps, and she met him at the door.

"A strange lady has come here with Aubyns, Fred,' she said, in a low tone, "I am quite charmed with her, and am sure you will be. I am glad you look so nice to-night, for I am to present you."

She looked up into his eyes with a fond smile. When did he not look nice to her?

He greeted his guests cordially, and was then lead by his wife to where the strange lady was busily engaged in turnining over the leaves of a portfolio. Whether she had observed Mr. Gernette's entrance or not was uncertain, but any way unconscious of his existence.

"Mrs. Rossyn," she said, "allow me to present to you my husband, Mr. Gernette."

"I am pleased to make your acquaintance, Mr. Gernette," she said in a voice that was low, rich and musical, extending her soft, white hand, on one finger of which glittered an opal ring.

Frederick Gernette seemed to have changed into a statue. His face became colorless and his lips quivered, and strong man as he was, a mist seemed to envelop him.

"Lucille!" The word fell from his lips without an effort of his will.

"Yes," she responded, "Lucille."

She raised her eyes to his face, filled with a passionate, fascinating light.

"For God's sake, what brought you here?" he asked.

"To see you, Frederick Gernette!"

At that instant Mrs. Aubyn appeared, and Gernette turned away, bewildered, suffering—almost crazed.

Fortunately his wife had left them the instant she gave the introduction, without waiting to see the extraordinary effect it produced on him.

He tried not to go near the strange woman again. But, during the latter part of the evening, some one insisted on her singing. For some time she hesitated about complying.

"Mr. Gernette," cried Mrs. Aubyn, "come here."

He obeyed reluctantly.

"Mrs. Rossyn will not sing," she continued, "and we wish you to exert your persuasive talents."

He flushed beneath Mrs. Rossyn's eye, which said plainly, "If you wish it, Frederick, yes."

"I am not vain enough to think that I can induce the lady to comply with your request," he said coldly, "but we would be pleased to hear you."

She arose and put her hand on his arm. Her very touch thrilled him.

"I shall sing you a very old song," she said merrily turning to her lady friend.

Gernette led her to the piano. She ran her fingers over the keys, then played a low, wailing prelude; from that her voice struck in with:

"The last link is broken that binds me to thee,
The words thou hast spoken render me free."

Never, perhaps, had that song been sung with so much expression, and to those who associated it with the memory of Josephine to Napoleon, it was particularly affecting. The songstress kept her eyes fast on Gernette's face until great bead-like drops of sweat burst from his forhead and down over his cheek.

She could not be prevailed upon to sing any more.

"I can only be persuaded to sing when the spirit moves," she said lightly, "and the spirit trickled has left me now."

* * * * * * *

"How did you like Mrs. Rossyn?" Jessie Gernette asked her husband, after the guests had departed. "I think she is the most fascinating woman I ever met with; and what a voice. Her singing was more than beautiful."

Gernette made no response, and Jessie, looking at his haggard face, grew sober.

"Dear Fred, what is the matter?" she questioned, putting her arm around his neck and pressing her soft cheek against his in a caressing manner. "You look tired and blue, what is it, Fred?"

"Nothing, little simpleton," he returned clasping her tightly in his arms, as if fearful she would be wrested from him. "Nothing but a stupid headache."

From that time forth Mrs. Rossyn came frequently to visit Mrs. Gernette. She was not like other women. She never seemed to have study days, for at all times she was brilliant.

"I envy you, Mrs. Gernette. I am actually pining to have a ride behind your husband's span of grays. I wish you would say that I might."

Jessie laughed.

"How could I deny such a trifle? Fred," said she to her husband, who was impatiently chewing the end of his moustache, "cant you take Mrs. Rossyn to ride this afternoon?"

"There! there!" laughed the widow, "You cannot refuse me, Mr. Gernette?"

Jessie watched them without a sigh, thinking:

"How much that charming woman will enjoy it!"

From that day rides were of common occurrence—so common, that the little wife's cheeks grew pale, and dark circles gathered around her eyes. A stranger had gained admittance in the portals of her heart—jealousy.

Frederick took her on his knee one night, and scanned her face earnestly. He made no comment; but nevertheless he saw and was pained. "I will be guilty of murder," he whispered to himself, "if this continues. Thank God that He has opened my eyes: I believe I was becoming infatuated and—with her!"

Again he drove around after Mrs. Rossyn as of yore. As soon as they were out of the village he turned to her:

"You must leave here immediately, Lucille," he exclcimed; "I cannot endure this longer. It will take Jessie."

"If I go, you must go too," was the response. "You cannot live without me."

"I can," he replied coldly. "My eyes are opened. You wrecked my life once, Lucille, and again I have fallen into your trap; but this time I am saved. Jessie is pure, true, uncomplaining, and God bear me witness, I mean to be a faithful husband to her."

"Jessie, good, pure and true," she repeated passionately. "You mean that as a stab at me; but I tell you, Frederick Gernette, I will not be foiled. You shall learn what a woman's vengance means. If you do not go, I will go tell her she is not—"

"Hush! hush!" he cried frantically, you shall not!"

"I will! Obey me, or—"

There was a great crash, a scream and then a silence. They had not noticed that they were crossing the car track, and the train had run down on them like a creature of vengeance.

The train was stopped, and the passengers rushed to see what had occurred. The carriage was broken into fragments, and amid its ruins lay Mrs. Rossyn, mangled, disfigured and dead! A short distance away was Mr. Gernette.

"Not dead," said one. "He must be taken home. Probably he is fatally injured."

Some one ran and told Jessie what had happened. The whistle blowed, the passengers hurried on board, and the train moved on. Mrs. Rossyn was carried to Mrs. Aubyn's home, and two days later buried.

Mr. Gernette lingered unconcious for weeks. He continually raved about Lucille, not Jessie, and a sharp pain gnawed at the patient wife's heart.

"It was her he loved, not me," she sighed; but yet that knowledge did not make her less tender or true.

At last he woke to consciousness one morning, as if awakening from a dream. He looked into Jessie's face eagerly.

"Mrs. Rossyn?" he asked in a questioning voice.

"She is dead!" she said, and she bowed her head. For an instant she had not the courage to look into his face, and see the sorrow which she expected he felt for the Lucille he must love, within there.

"Jessie."

She looked up. His face was radiant.

"You have cared for me all this time.

"My darling, yes," was her response. "You must not talk any more."

"Sleep came to him as, as it comes to a tired child. From that time he began to convalesce, and at length became as strong as of yore. Never had he been so tender and kind to Jessie as since his illness and she wondered what Lucille had been to him, and if it was all put on now to hide his grief. "Fred," she said softly one night, as she sat on his knee, in the twilight, "I wish you would tell me something honest and true."

"What is it?" he asked.

"What was Lucille Rossyn to you?"

A grave look swept over his face, and he pressed her closer to his heart.

"My wife, it is your right to know, and yet I fear you will love me less."

"No," she responded but this uncertainty is worse than the truth."

"Then listen. When I was a boy of eighteen I met Lucille at a theater. We flirted, and at last ran away and got married. I was under age and my father got fearfutly angry; but nevertheless he took us home, and determined to make the best of it. Three months later I was sent away on business. While absent Lucille became a mother; but the child—it was not mine.

Word was sent me. A divorce was applied for and got. My father gave her a a sum of money and sent her away. I did not go home again; I was ashamed. My infatuation had died out for the woman I had called my wife for so few weeks and nothing but disgust was left. I went to Australia; I became wealthy. I chanced to meet you, and the first love which my heart ever knew was laid at your feet. We were married. I kept my past from you out of kindness. I did not wish to chill your love or faith for one moment.

"I believed Lucille dead—dead for years. Judge of my surprise when I met her in this very house. I tried to avoid her but it was impossible. She threw herself in my way. She said she married since, was a widow, and had come purposely to see me. She tried to make me elope with her. She threatened to expose me to the world—to tell you that you were not my wife.

"I was bewildered. I knew not which way to turn. At last, I saw that you were failing—that you thought she was winning me away from you, and I resolved to end it all.

"I had just told her that leave she must, and she vowed that she would wreak vengance on you, when a merciful Providence interposed to save you. Wife of my soul, can you still love me?"

She laid her head on his breast and shed happy tears.

"Never has my love wavered for an instant," she murmured, "and now I am happy. The mistake of your youth is not so bitter as if you had been won away to be untrue to me. A woman's vengance has failed."

"Thank God, that burden is off my heart forever. The secret was hard to keep, Jessie, and heavy to bear."

I WOULD not given much for your religion unless it can be seen. Lamps do not talk but they do shine. A lighthouse sounds no drum, it beats no gong, and yet far over the waters its friendly spark is seen by the mariner. So let your actions shine out your religion. Let the main sermon of your life be illustrated by your conduct, and it shall not fail to be industrious.

INDIAN PUNISHMENT.—The Pottawotomie Indians used to punish men who ran away with the wives of other Indians by tying the culprit to the ground and allowing the injured husband to bite off the nose of the destroyer of his domestic happiness. The law has been abolished recently, in consequence of the scandelous conduct of a Shawnee Indian, named Shying Mule.

This brave had no nose, that feature having been sliced off with a scalping knife during a controversy with a friend. So when Shying Mule eloped with the wife of a Pottawotomie, and he was arrested, he adorned himself with a wax nose—one of a gross provided for such an emergency. He was tied to the ground and the injured husband bit off the nose and swallowed it. He smacked his lips once or twice, as it didn't taste exactly right. But he had too much spirit to admit that he was sold.

Shying Mule immediately ran away with the wife of another brave. When he was brought back he had a fresh nose on lo oking as natural as life.

The Indians were surprised, but they turned the husband on, and he bit away and swallowed the wax without winking. This kind of things continued off and on for two years—Shying Mule glided away with sixty-seven squaws at different periods, and every time he returned with one of these noses standing out on his face like the marker on a sun-dial.

The Pottawotomes considered that this kind of thing was getting to be monotonous; they were sacred. They regarded the miraculous sucess of this Shawnee as a cultivator of noses as a direct intimation from the Great Spirit that their law was wrong, and so they abolished it. Shying Mule says he is gradually working these savages onward to that perfect Christian civilization which gives a man a right to kill the person who runs away with his wife, provided the forsaken one can prove that he was insane.

THE PRESIDENT TWELVE YEARS AGO.—The Grant county (Wis.) Democrat says:

During the year 1858 there appeared in the village of Potosi a man seated upon a load of green hides. He had a mule team, and stopped to inquire the way to Galena. In Potosi, at that time, lived one Pat Dorsey, a man who loved excitement, and was sure to get up a horserace, if possible. On that day, in 1858, Dorsey had made a race, and the man with the hides saw the crowd gathering, and asked the cause. He was told they were going to have horse race. he turned his mules about and drove to the race course. In 1871 the Congress of the United States is in session, fighting over the San Domingo and Ku-Klux affairs. A man sits in the Presidential chair who wants Congress to adjourn, so that he can repair to Long Island to see the opening of the Spring races. The man who wants to go to Long Island now, and the man who wanted to see the quarter race in Potosi in 1858 are one and the same man—Ulysses S. Grant. Is it to be wondered at that a man who would neglect his employer's business when out gathering up hides for the tannery, would not hesitate to squander the people's time when elevated to a higher position? Old habits grow and become chronic, and Grant's interest in horse-racing is greater now than it was in 1858.

A WELL known physician in Indianapolis tells a good story at his own expense. He assisted in the advent of a child, and to secure his fee in the case, which was rather doubtful, proposed to carry it off as security. The newly-made mother rather upset that plan by telling the doctor she would give him five dollars to carry it away. That fee hasn't been paid yet.

AN Elmira farmer wrote to Mr. Greely for his experience in raising geese for market. Horace said there was no trouble at all about it if the goslings were not weaned too young. He says they should be allowed to run with the old gow and suck till their horns got out an inch or two, when they will be hardy enough to pack and salt for market.

A SUBSCRIBER of the Oakland News, at Leandro, has exploded the absurd dogma of the earth's rotation. He had laid a pumpkin on a stump, watched it twenty-four hours, and as the vegetable didn't roll off, he very rationally concluded that the world hadn't turned over.

COUNTY OFFICIAL PRESS.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, 1871.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE DEMOCRATIC CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF FRESNO COUNTY.

In pursuance to a call made by the Chairman of the Fresno County Democratic Central Committee, May 16th, 1871, the following members of said Committee met in the Court-room, Millerton, May 22d, 1871, and were called to order by Wm. Faymonville, Chairman, Present: Wm. Faymonville, Alexander Kennedy, Wm. T. Rumble, Justin Esery, John Cunningham.

Upon motion Wm. T. Rumble was appointed Secretary.

[COMMUNICATED]

CENTERVILLE, June 2d, 1871.

EDITOR EXPOSITOR:—For the last eight or ten days—the main work of the season being over—I have been perambulating over the country; have visited various portions of the county, and at this moment I find myself at the pleasant town of Centerville, partaking of some of the good things which friend Farrar knows so well how to prepare.

Upon his table I find your issue of the 31st ult., in which "Progress," in a letter dated Big Dry Creek, May 13th [It should have been the 23d.—ED. EX.], takes me severely to task for some of the opinions expressed in my letter of the 13th ult., dated Lower King's River, and he seems especially highly displeased with my views on the subsidy question. But instead of combatting those views by reasonable argument, sound logic, and fair conclusions, he lashes himself into a mad fury and advances all sorts of wild conjectures in the abortive attempt to show how this subsidy questions affects me physically—at breakfast, at dinner, at supper, and during the hours of repose.

Let me assure "Progress" that my mutton sits easily on my stomach, and that none of the hideous phantoms his diseased imagination has conjured up, pursues me.

I will not waste time and space in idle speculations as to the effect this question has upon his physical organization; whether his nervous system is alarmingly affected; whether his gastric apparatus performs its functions well; whether in his dreams he imagines iron-horses thundering across his stomach, shrieking "Progress!" "Progress!!" or whether he really feels something more tangible crawl across it—has nothing to do with subject.

I did not, as "Progress" asserts, advise the ignoring of all other questions, and the advocacy of the subsidy question alone. The fence question, I repeat, is an important one to our county, and should receive due and careful consideration. The action of this county in regard to this matter will depend to a great extent upon the action of adjacent counties. Merced, I am reliably informed, is sick of her fence law, and will make an attempt in our next Legislature to have it repealed. In that case, would it be good policy in Fresno to demand a law which has proven detrimental to Merced; or would it be wise to spurn and reject, and refuse to profit by the lesson Merced has been taught?

"Progress," after warmly advocating a subsidy of five per cent. to a railroad corporation, and after dilating with considerable ingenuity upon the supposed benefits to be derived, finally lifts the "unfriendly pall" a little, and peeping cautiously under it, makes this truthful discovery: "That a railroad down the San Joaquin valley at this time, would not be a paying institution." He never uttered a greater truth, and yet, in spite of this fatal admission, he advocates a subsidy of many thousands of dollars yearly to an institution that will not pay. He asks the people to invest the proceeds of their toil in an unprofitable speculation. This is bad logic. The immutable rules of business hold good with nations, states, and counties, as well as with individuals, and he who invests his means in an enterprise he knows to be unprofitable, must of necessity fail. Instead of progress there will be inevitable retrogression. Suppose we vote a subsidy and the road is built. What guarantee have we that it will be kept in operation? The corporation asking the people's money to build their road can well afford to furnish the balance of the funds to complete it, thereby securing the right of way and forestalling all competition; but can we reasonably hope that the road will be used for the purposes designed until such time as it will pay? This road may possibly be built with the people's money, but the corporation to whom this princely donation is to be made will not run it until it proves a source of profit to them. The corporation will put our subsidy into their already plethoric coffers—the road will be idle—it will have cost them but little and they can abide their time, and the dupes who voted the subsidy will be no better off for years to come than they are at present. "Progress" thinks that I "seem to be deeply impressed with the peculiar virtues of Gov. Haight." I plead guilty to the soft impeachment, and from the result of the primary elections held recently in nearly all the counties I am justified in the assertion that the "deep impression" is contagious: the feeling seems to be general, and I venture to say that Fresno will not be behind her sister counties in showing her gratitude to the men who saved us from the deadly embrace of a soulless corporation, notwithstanding "Progress"—and I will admit that he did it in all sincerity—seems to doubt and question Haight's soundness and Democracy. How sound Democratic doctrines and the centralization of unlimited power can be reconciled and harmonized, I am at a loss to understand. And yet this is the drift of "Progress's" whole argument. He favors subsidies, which means to make the already powerful still stronger and the weak weaker. To whatever extent we increase their strength by adding to their enormous wealth, to that extent we weaken ourselves and render ourselves less potent to resist their encroachments. Centralization of wealth and power into the hands of a few individuals is despotism, and consequently un-Democratic. History is full of examples to substantiate this assertion, and the United States present to-day a sad spectacle of this great truth. Centralized power and colossal corporations and their handmaid, despotism, never flourished under Democratic rule, but it was left to the Radicals, the party of progress (?) and moral ideas, to call these liberty and life-destroying agencies into being, and to foster and nourish them. Wendell Phillips, in his otherwise vile and monstrous speech which he delivered on the 9th ult. before the Labor Reform Society, in New York city, makes this truthful but startling confession: That the corporations have the nation by the throat. That Congress itself is but a secretary to record their decrees, That there is not a Legislature from Harrisburg to San Francisco that in ten years will stand up against that far-sighted and sure-footed power. He advises the laboring classes to crush this dangerous power at the polls. Such is the condition of things in the older States, and now this all-ruling power, by working in conjunction with the Central Pacific Railroad corporation, itself of huge dimensions, seeks to spread its coils over our own State of California. Will the people follow the advice of Phillips and vote for men who have proven themselves the uncompromising foes of huge corporations, or will they listen to the sophistical pleas of "Progress" and vote to themselves and their children self bondage? We shall see.

THE SAN FRANCISCO DELEGATION.—A more unjust or unpopular action could not have well been committed by a political committee than that of the San Francisco Democratic County Central Committee, in assuming for themselves the prerogative of selecting the delegates from that county to the State Convention. It is a gross assumption, and an utter disregard, of the rights of the masses. In our opinion this action of the San Francisco Committee will work great harm to the party if it is not rescinded. It is literally giving sixteen men the power to name the men which Democratic voters of this State must support for the different State offices. This packed delegation will have complete sway over the Congressional Convention of this District.

BIG DRY CREEK, June 3rd, 1871.

EDITOR EBPOSITOR:—Dear Sir:—I find an article in your last issue signed Progress, who, after dealing a crushing rebuke to the San Francisco Examiner, goes without gloves after our county officials. I wish the gentleman had been a little more explicit and told us who those ignoramuses are who sit in high places, or does he include, en masse, every incumbent at present in office, from Judge down to Road Master, in his charge of mental imbecility. In my ignorance I had thought that our present county officials were men of fair average intellect, who understood their duties and performed them passing well. But alas! I now fear Progress will now rank me amongst the imbeciles (though not an office-holder), and far below his standard of mediocrity, in not discovering the infernal ignorance of our men in office until pointed out by his superior intellect. He says he is an old resident amongst us; how the devil did he manage to keep his light so long hid under a bushel? A man with his brains, who ranks our county officials as below mediocrity in intelligence, ought to have made his mark long before this and have shown himself a bright and a shining light, illuminating the banks of Dry Creek from its source in the Sierras to where it loses itself in the plains, for us poor ignorant mortals to have looked up to and admired with awe and wonder. But no! like "many a flower he's blushed unseen" until the advent of these new comers (as he calls them), when, under their congenial presence, he bursts into full bloom, rushes into print, and boldly declares the people in this county are a set of fools who have elected to office men below mediocrity in intelligence, and who must now make way for a bran new arrival of intellectual striplings and intelligent non-taxpayers just imported for the occasion by railroad. Leaving our officials and carpet-baggers, he goes full tilt at "Citizen" for his ignorance and audacity in objecting to pay subsidy to Governor Stanford and others of our republican aristocracy, and fairly overwhelms him under a chaotic mass of railroad dyspepsia, lightning express trains, steam horses, five per cents, and a eulogy on all railroads and railroad subsidies in general. Now I in my ignorance had thought that these railroad lords were sufficiently paid from the public crib in vast amounts of land amply sufficient to carve themselves out principalities and dukedoms, in comparison to which some of the European kingdoms would sink into insignificance, but it seems after getting immense grants unequalled in ancient or modern times from the general government, they still cry for more, and now come to the counties to aid them to wring from the hard-fisted farmers five per cent. of all he possesses to gorge their already plethoric purses. I, in my stupidity, have long doubted the great benefits that would result to every man in the county by a railroad coupled with an increased taxation, when we are already staggering under our present burthen, and never could see why Tom, Dick and Harry, though three to one, should dictate to me how I should invest my earnings, and if the principle is right as to five per cent. of my property it certainly is as to the whole. But then I am one of those simple loons who never could swallow that axiom, "a national debt is a national blessing," though I've no doubt Progress could make it appear as clear as mud in a wine-glass, although I don't believe he'll ever get into the heads of the farmers and stockmen of this county any other idea save a railroad subsidy is an infernal swindle. After having disposed of the small fry—the Examiner, our present county officers, and "Citizen," he flies at higher game and fires a broadside at Governor Haight, whom he says has ever shown himself the pampered tool of the money kings. What fools nine-tenths of the Democrats of this county must be, for certainly that number firmly believe that Gov. Haight has been fighting nobly those identical money kings the whole of his administration, and if what Progress says is true they must be an ungrateful set, for they certainly are the men who now are most strongly opposing his re-nomination. The two instances Progress gives, in my humble opinion, do not bear him out in his conclusion. The Mercantile Library Lottery scheme certainly gave every man his choice whether to pay his five dollars or not, though perhaps it might have been better to invest it in a little game of draw, bet it on a horse race, or indulge in the glorious excitement of a cock fight, there is no accounting for tastes, but does it not look a little inconsistent in Progress, to find fault with the Governor's signing the only bill under which the railroad lords can collect their subsidy, he being so great an advocate for them. Hoping Progress will illumine our ignorance in your next, I am his most humble servant.

INA.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION.—We earnestly urge upon every Democratic voter in this county the necessity of voting at the primary election on next Tuesday. Too much interest cannot be taken in the contest. Let the endorsement of Governor Haight be unanimous by the voters of this county. It will add weight to our delegation in the State Convention. It will show that they have been chosen by a full and fair expression of the people's sentiments.

ED. EXPOSITOR:—The party last Thursday night at the ranch of Mr. Theodore Phillips, in honor of the joining together in the "holy bonds" of Mr. Samuel Wood and Miss Bessie Mitchell, I must say was a decided and complete success. All present seemed to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent. Much credit is due to Messrs. B. S. Boutwell, L. Dennis, Theo. Phillips and A. Zollner, who did everything in their power to render the affair agreeable and entertaining. The dancing commenced at the earliest shades of night and continued without cessation—more than to partake of as good a supper as ever was served in the county—until the "cock's shrill clarion told of the approach of day," and announced that our fun was over.

THE MOST IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT EVER MADE ON

SEWING MACHINES!

Can be seen in use at the

HOWE SEWING MACHINE OFFICE,

NO. 113 KEARNEY STREET.

READ THE FOLLOWING ENDORSEMENT, SIGNED BY OUR MOST PROMINENT PHYSICIANS:

We, the undersigned, practicing physicians of San Francisco, having examined and witnessed the operation of the

"MILLS ADJUSTABLE TREADLE"

For Sewing Machines, take pleasure in giving our testimony to the great value of the improvement, in a sanitary point of view. The peculiar feature of this new treadle is that The footboard is made adjustable, both vertically and longitudinally; so that whatever the size of the foot or shoe the true center of motion of the foot may always be brought to coincide with the center of motion of the treadle, and held there, thus permitting the feet to move on their natural centers without having first to overcome the inertia and weight of the heavier limbs.

In our opinion it possess the following important advantages over the ordinary treadle:

First, It saves the excessive labor and waste of power consumed in keeping up the rapidly alternating motion of the lower limbs and body whenever the machine is run with any speed.

Second, It avoids the frequent and serious injury to female health resulting directly from that motion.

By the general adoption of the treadle we believe the only serious objection to the foot power sewing machine will be removed, and that so far from being prejudicial to the health of the operator, its use will prove as harmless and positively beneficial as other physical exercise, tending directly to develop the muscles of the calf of the leg, strengthen the ankle, restore the elasticity of the foot, and promote circulation in the extremeties. Signed,

I have carefully examined the new treadle attached to the Howe Sewing Machines, and consider it a most valuable improvement, doing away with most of the motion of the back and pelvis, which is unavoidable in operating the old style treadle, and which has proven so detrimental to health. I cheerfully recommend it to those who work much with sewing machines, believing that it will save them much trouble.

COUNTY OFFICIAL PRESS.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

LEGAL.—A few days since our friend Judge Sayle, was called upon by Mr. Lo, a native of this locality, and a member of the celebrated "Lo" family, who wished to employ a legal adviser. Mr. Lo stated that he and a Mr. Lee, a native of the Flowery Kingdom, and a descendant of the renowned Confucious, had sat themselves down, in on one of the magnifi*scent*-ly furnished saloons, which line Rue de Slumgullion, in Faubourg du Shanghai, for the purpose of whiling away a few dull hours, in a friendly set-to at that interesting, intellectual, and highly entertaing game vulgarly known as draw-poker. In the course of the playing Mr. Lo held three aces, on which he bet one dollar and fifty cents. Mr. Lee "called him" and he showed his hand which contained, as before stated, three aces. Mr. Lee only had two pair, but, nevertheless, proceeded to rake in the money. Mr. Lo very naturally objected to this procedure, and remonstrated with his friend about the matter. Mr. Lee being a gentleman of honor, naturally enough, got vexed at the impudence of his companion, and gently informed him that if he didn't amend his manners and keep his denticulated orifice, commonly known as clam trap, shut, that he (Mr. Lee) would be under the painful necessity of making an incision in his abdomen, with a sharp, steel implement, and removing his intestines. Not wishing to have such an operation performed on him, Mr. Lo sought Judge Sayle with a view to try to recover his lost fortune by a legal process. The Judge agreed to take the case providing Mr. Lo would raise him a fee of fifty dollars—the fee wasn't raised.

HEAVY ON VAN TASSEL.—A few days since we received a business letter from a gentleman at Fresno City. He stated that a short time before he had made a brief visit to Millerton, and that, while here, he endeavored to see us, but not being acquainted, he failed in doing so. Using his own language: "I did not see any one that looked like an editor, except one man, with specs on, and he was playing with some little tricks set upon a billiard table, at which he shot balls with a pole, in the whisky shop near Henry's hotel. They call the game pool I think." The individual "with specs on" was evidently our friend Van Tassell, of King's River. We think he has just grounds for a libel suit against the Fresno City gentleman. Van hasn't got that haggard, weurid, careworn, lean, hungry, cadaverous look of an editor, and besides he had money, dressed well, and went to his meals regularly.—"by these signs" our correspondent should have known that the "man with specs" was not an editor.

PARTIES inform us that so great is the number of cattle and sheep that are being driven into the mountains of this county, for pasturing, that the "hills are fairly alive with them," and the feed is devoured almost as fast as it makes its appearance—the snow not having melted off but a short distance back as yet. Our informant states that so much stock has been driven into the mountains this season that the feed will most probably be all eaten up before the summer is over, and cause a great amount of suffering among the stock before new grass makes its appearance on the plains again. The range of this county is ample to meet the demands of all the stock that legitimately belongs here, but a very large number is being driven in upon us annually from other quarters, which results to the disadvantage of our own people.

INHERITED DISEASES.—The number of transmissible complaints is larger than is generally supposed. Not only scrofula and consumption, but rheumatism, gout, liver complaint, constipation cerebral affections, and probably dyspepsia, are inheritable. Fortunately, however, these terrible heirlooms may be got rid of. Cut off the entail with DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. This powerful Vegetable Alterative and Invigorant, is also a blood depurent. It removes that transmitted poison from the circulation, and cures what are called constitutional disorders.

WE learn from Dr. T. O. Ellis that a meeting will be held in the Scottsburg School House, on King's river, embracing the first Saturday and Sunday in July, for the purpose of making a united effort to secure a more general observance of the Christian Sabbath. A society has been formed in San Francisco, and sub-societies are being formed in the different counties throughout the State. Dr. Ellis has been appointed organizing agent for Fresno county. The object aimed at is worthy and should meet with every encouragement.

WE are pleased to learn that the sale of tickets in the Cosmopolitan Benevolent Society, of Nevada City, has far exceeded the expectations of the managers, up to this date, and would seriously advise our readers not to neglect buying a ticket while they have a chance. Only $2 50 each—and the highest prize is $25,000. All the prizes are gold coin.

SNOW.—During the storm mentioned in our last issue, a considerable quantity of snow fell in the mountain regions of this county, causing much suffering among the stock which had been driven thither for pasture. We learn that quite a number of cattle and sheep perished from cold.

FOR COUNTY JUDGE.

MILLERTON, FRESNO CO., April 12th, 1871.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—I take this method of announcing through the FRESNO EXPOSITOR, our county newspaper, that my name will be placed before you at the ensuing Judicial Election for re-election to the office that I have the honor now humbly to fill. My official acts as County Judge for the past three years are known to the voters of this county (whether good or bad). I do not claim that I have not committed any errors, but I do claim that whatever those errors may have been, they were of judgment and not of the heart. I feel a desire to fill the office for another term, as I feel that I can do so more satisfactorily to myself, having gained some knowledge of the statute laws and practice of courts in this State. Feeling thankful, fellow citizens, for past favors, if re-elected will continue to the best of my ability to discharge the functions of the office conscientiously under oath of office.

PATENT

ARION PIANO!

A FEW REASONS WHY

—THE—

ARION PIANO!

IS SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS.

The ARION PIANO-FORTE has Greater Power than any other Piano-Forte manufactured

It Will Stand in Tune Longer, and in its mechanical construstion it is more perfect, and therefore more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the form and peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar, (which is a part of the Iron Frame) on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes,

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity of Vibration,

All go to prove what we claim, viz: that the

ARION PIANO-FORTE

Is the Best Instrument manufactured,

THE PATENT

ARION PIANOS

Are used exclusively in the American

Conservatories of Music of New York City.

The most severe test a Piano can receive is constant use in a Conservatory.

Read the Following:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano-Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "Patent Arion Pianos" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly from morning till night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for remaining in tune, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble, (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement,) is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry-toned compared with the ARION.

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb Instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SCHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO-FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style he may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over Five Thousand Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano, which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

AT NIGHTFALL.

When in the evening's solitude
My thought has leisure to be free,
The purer life, the higher mood,
The nobler purpose wakes in me.

But in the cares which through the day
Constrain the mind from hour to hour,
The nobler purpose fades away—
Grows faint and loses all its power.

So some pure star's excelling ray,
With all the beauty of its light,
Is hidden by the glare of day,
And only shines with fall of night.

HON. J. A. JOHNSON in his late speech at Colusa, said: "I assure you that I am on the best of relations with every aspirant for the position that I know of. Roach is a candidate. He is my friend; a gentleman in every relation of life; one who would fill the Gubernatorial office to the entire satisfaction of the people it chosen. I have never said an unkind word about or uttered an unkind expression with reference to him. McCoppin, of San Francisco, is also a candidate; a gentleman of enlarged and liberal views; a gentleman of the finest political sagacity; a true Democrat, who would fill the office well. With him I am also upon terms of friendship. I occupy the same relations toward him that I do toward the other gentleman. Governor Haight is also a candidate. I occupy the same friendly relations toward him that I do toward the others; and I believe, so far as personal friendship is concerned, I have been a little closer and a little nearer to him than any of the rest. I know him to be a gentleman of the finest legal ability; I know him to be a gentleman in every relation of life; I know him to be as purely honest as any man living on the earth. But I do not want him to be Governor of this State of California, because I want to be Governor myself.

We hope Johnson will continue to want.

THERE is a medical college at Iowa City in which boys and girls are both insrtucted, and it is said to be one of the most touching sights, and worth going miles to see, to witness a boy a and a girl slashing away at the same corpse. Two of them got into a quarrel the other day over the partition of a corpse, but the boy dealt the girl a blow over the chignon with a shin-bone, and they soon had peace.

HOUSE, FARM AND GARDEN.

AN OLD FRIEND UNDER A NEW NAME. Eastern papers announce that a new grass has been discovered in California that lives through the dry summer, stands the drouth and is very productive. Alfalfa has been growing in this State for ten or fifteen years. It is the grass known as Lucerne in the Eastern States, where it is extensively grown for soiling cattle. During the last two or three years special attention has been turned to the value of of this grass here. Large quantities of Alfalfa seed were sold this year, and so far as we know the experiments have been very satifactory. Ten acres sown to Alfalfa will produce more forage than an hundred acres of ordinary pasture. We have seen patches this year which had been cut twice, the yield each time being verv large, and at least three more crops will be taken from the same land without irrigation. The grass sends its roots down to moisture, lives and grows during the dryest seasons, provided it once gets a good start, and when the land is rich and well tilled, the yield is wonderful. It is the only grass well adopted for dairy purposes which will live through the six months of dry weather; and this fact has attracted the attention of stock growers in this State. Lucerne crops out as Alfalfa, but is just as good for all that.—S. F. Bulletin.

NEW POISON MIXTURE.—An exchange says Mr. Putman Hayes, of Bay Point, informs us that two sticks of phosphorous dissolved in one quart of syrup, heated to a temperature a little short of boiling, and thoroughly stirred, hot, into twelve pounds of wheat is by far the most effective poison mixture for destroying squirrels that he has ever known used; and he thinks we can safely promise that those who try it will fully endorse his recommendation.

TO CURE BUTTER.—Take two parts of the best common salt, one part of sugar, and one half part of saltpetre; beat them up and blend the whole together. Take one ounce of this composition for every sixteen ounces of butter, work it well into the mass and close it up for use. Butter cured in this way is of a rich, marrowy consistency and fine color, and never acquires a brittle hardness, nor tastes salt. It will likewise keep good three years, only observing that it must stand three weeks or a month before it is used.

POISONS.—A standing antidote for poison by dew, poison oak, ivy, etc., is to take a handful of quick lime; dissolve in water; let it stand half an hour, then paint the poisoned parts with it. Three or four applications will never fail to cure the most aggravated cases. Poison from bees, hornets spider bites, etc., is instantly arrested by the application of equal parts of common salt and bicarbonate of soda, well rubbed in on the place bitten or stung.

GRAMMAR.—Some of our readers who may be grammarians will be kind enough to tell us if they can whether the plural of a tailor's goose is geese or gooses. They will also tell us if, asking to be helped from a dish of potatoes, hashed, mashed, stewed, and cooked, they should say "a spoonful of mashed potatoe," or "a spoonful of mashed potatoes."

Speaking of the article known as a tailor's goose reminds us of the following:

Some time since a variety merchant in the country wished to order something from a hardware store, something for his tailor customers, and wrote as follows:

"Please send me two tailors' gooses."

Not liking the grammar and fearing his New York friends would laugh at him he destroyed that order, and wrote:

"Please send me two tailor's geese."

After the letter was sealed he was troubled in mind lest they should send him a couple of live geese purchased from some tailor, when he took the document from the Postoffice, destroyed it, and for two days thought of nothing except how to word his order so that it could be under stood and according to grammar. Atlast he gave up in despair and wrote:

"Please send me one tailors' goose—and d—n it, send me another one just like it!

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD!

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous.—Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tennant of the organism undermines the constitution, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops in one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.—Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief and at length cure by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm and other visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal or Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these maladies by any medicine. But long, continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations and Female Diseases are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflamation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do from, the rankling poisons in the blood. The SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fear, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.
